PRESS RELEASE

01 May 2011 - The Damage Movies, produced by Uche Jombo Studios, is a collection of three distinct but interwoven stories. Aimed at advocacy for social issues, each story addresses important problems affecting individuals, families and societies at large. The movie aims to break new grounds in creating precedents in the Nigerian movie industry. Not the average Nollywood flick, Damage is being produced to international standards.

The Birth

In the words of Uche Jombo, "I wanted to go to America as a child, not because anyone told me about the States, but because I had watched American movies that were already branded with Hollywood. We know the "cross" Nollywood carries by way of branding Nigeria. This is the reason we branded young Nigerian entertainment brands like MI, AY, AKI and PAWPAW, TUFACE, OUCH, Young Designer Coco Couture, Emem Isong, Funke Akindele, Bellanaija, Ice Prince etc) at the Wow! Recognition Awards in the opening scene of Damage. Our message is simple: "I am a brand in Nigeria. I don't do 419. I am not sleeping in any embassy begging for a visa to run away from Nigeria. I live and make my money in Nigeria. Yes, I am a Nigerian art brand ambassador." With this simple message, still telling a dramatic theatrical story, we present DAMAGE the movie.
